

B-2 • Wednesday, July 29, 1998 Green Bay Press-Gazette

Questions, answers about Superfund issue

Press-Gazette

Following is information about how to submit comments during the 60-day public comment period that begins Tuesday and expires Sept. 25.

Q. How do I submit comments?
A. Access our document on the website, note the site name and provide one original and three copies as dictated conditions. EPA Headquarters (EPCAA Docket Office (HQ)), 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20006. Comments also may be submitted in ARCH format to superfund.docket@epa.gov.

Q. What happens to my comments?
A. The EPA reviews all comments received during this comment period. Significant comments will be addressed in a report document the EPA will publish. If not, when the site is listed on the National Priorities List as a Superfund priority clean-up site.

Q. What should I consider when submitting comments?
A. The EPA will consider all comments about the proposed listing, but those that are more specific about the site's condition, the agency must address the technical merits of the Superfund listing. The EPA does not have the authority to change the listing. The EPA will have public hearings about the listing during the Superfund process.

Q. How can I get more information about the cleanup issue?
A. The EPA will host public hearings during the Superfund process to explain the listing process and answer questions. Dates and locations will be announced as they arise.

Q. Can I review for documents submitted to this proposed listing?
A. Yes. Because of the high level of interest in the Fox River project, the EPA has approved several documents that formed the basis for the proposed listing. The documents are available for review at the Brown County Library, 111 Pine St., Green Bay, and the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service Reading Room, 1813 Challenger Court, Green Bay.

Q. How can I get more information about the cleanup issue?
A. The EPA will host public hearings during the Superfund process to explain the listing process and answer questions. Dates and locations will be announced as they arise.

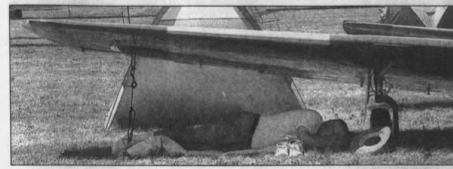

Q. Can I view public comments submitted by others?
A. During the comment period, the EPA's headquarters in Washington, D.C., will make comments available to the public on an "as received" basis. A complete list of comments will be available for viewing in the regional office about one week after the comment period closes and may be made available for review locally as well.

Q. How soon after the Fox River is proposed for Superfund listing could an actual listing be proposed? A final listing of the river, if appropriate, could come next year. The listing, however, will depend on the volume of comments the EPA must respond to and any progress on voluntary cleanup talks among paper mills responsible for the contamination and the state and federal agencies overseeing the process.

Q. Could the EPA propose Superfund designation for the Fox River, but never list it on the National Priorities List?
A. Yes. The EPA could choose not to list the river after receiving public comments. Ideally, the listing could be avoided if the paper mills agree to a voluntary settlement for the river cleanup.

Q. How soon after the Fox River

Top time: Jon Bresser of Omaha, Neb., takes a nap Tuesday afternoon under the wing of his 1946 Globe Swift aircraft, which he flew to the EAA AirVenture Oshkosh camp before his plane for the duration of the event.

A look at EAA AirVenture 1998

Press-Gazette

Featuring the Experimental Aircraft Association and its EAA AirVenture Oshkosh.

Q. Age: The convention, previously known as the EAA Oshkosh Fly-In Convention, has been taking place annually since 1967. In 1985, the Experimental Aircraft Association, which holds the event, was founded that year by Paul Poberezny and met for its 40th anniversary in his hometown of Oshkosh, Wis., in 1997. The EAA today has more than 170,000 members.

Q. Size: The world's largest sport aviation gathering, the convention normally draws more than 80,000 people and 11,000 airplanes from around the world. It originally drew fewer than 40 people.

Q. When: It runs daily at 8 a.m. today through Sunday.

Q. Where: Wittman Regional Airport, U.S. 41 in Oshkosh.

Q. Cost: Daily admission for EAA members is $17 for ages 14 and older, $5 for ages 8-13 and for children younger than 7. For non-members, it's $22 for ages 14 and older, $11 for ages 8-13 and for children 7 and younger.

Q. Package: Daily rates for air, car, and other, $5 for non-members and $10 for members and $5 for non-members.

Q. Events: Air shows featuring Cessna, Piper, Mooney, Stearman, and other aircraft, rotorcraft and ultralights, begin at 10:30 p.m. daily and end at 10 p.m. on Tuesday.

Allouez studies YMCA expansion

By Fern Cole

Without adding to the exterior of the building, the village and YMCA lawyers will study their lease agreement in a court. Some YMCA neighbors oppose the renovation because of parking concerns.

The ordinance requires that the YMCA add 72 more parking spaces for more people.

Village Trustee David Holm said he is not sure that you're going to be able to add an additional 72 spaces. "We've been through the process once already and from my standpoint there's nothing more the board can do."

But Trustee Patricia O'Neil said she also has no problem with the ordinance if the board would waive the parking requirement.

"We really need to have printed out of there if something we can really do," she said.

Holm has concerns about waiving those parking requirements.

"I'd have a neighborhood that's really quite leery and, frankly, they'd be more so if we approved," he said.

Steve Harty, YMCA president, did not make any proposals to the board. Instead, Harty asked for the board's cooperation in reaching a "win-win" solution for both parties.

O'Neil stressed the impact the YMCA has on the village.

The Boardview YMCA has 7,000 members, more than half of whom are children. The facility provides childcare services to children at Day and Night. Harty's school is expected to extend this care to children at Langford School.

Man, 18, charged for shot that hit girl, 11

MILWAUKEE (AP)

A 17-year-old boy was charged after an 11-year-old girl was hit by a stray bullet that landed near her parents' car at a park.

Kendrick was hit by a ricochet bullet in the shoulder, and the bullet then came out through her back, but family doctors said she was hit as she tried to push her nephew into the house. Family members said she was not seriously injured.

Police Lt. Michael McCall said he has no way of knowing if the girl was in the house at the time of the shooting.

Brown bolts he has injured two and killed three other Milwaukee youngsters in the last three years.

McCall said he has no way of knowing if the girl was in the house at the time of the shooting.

Brown bolts he has injured two and killed three other Milwaukee youngsters in the last three years.

Stabbing suspect wore outfit from film

Authorities say boy, 16, dressed as 'Screen 2' killer

CHEPPEN FALLS (AP)

A 16-year-old boy dressed in a costume similar to one worn by a murderer in a 1978 film was charged in an adult court with two counts of attempted first-degree intentional homicide, burglary and restraining order violation.

Thaddeus K. Brown was charged in adult court with two counts of attempted first-degree intentional homicide, burglary and restraining order violation.

Thaddeus K. Brown was charged in adult court with two counts of attempted first-degree intentional homicide, burglary and restraining order violation.

Thaddeus K. Brown was charged in adult court with two counts of attempted first-degree intentional homicide, burglary and restraining order violation.

Thaddeus K. Brown was charged in adult court with two counts of attempted first-degree intentional homicide, burglary and restraining order violation.

Thaddeus K. Brown was charged in adult court with two counts of attempted first-degree intentional homicide, burglary and restraining order violation.

Experts: Quick Pick is best bet in Powerball

By Sean Schutte

The computer in your friend's house is more likely to win the Powerball lottery.

Forget your kids' birthdays, the total of your gas purchase, your street address. These numbers aren't likely to be winners.

Andrew Bohage, communications director for the Wisconsin Lottery, says he revealed the most frequently drawn winning numbers, but he wouldn't share odds on them winning tonight.

The odds of winning the jackpot are 1 in 175,223,750.

The numbers by Bohage were compiled after 469 Powerball drawings. No. 35 was top, drawn 39 times out of 469. No. 15 came in second with 38 draws, and 33 were selected in 32 drawings.

The Powerball number drawn most often is 15, and that's been drawn just 33 times.

David Kewen, mathematics professor at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, offers this advice: Never

Cruise In To Catch A '99

New 1999 Sylvan and Smoker Craft Boats at 1998 Prices!

New Models • New Colors • New Designs

SMOKER CRAFT SYLVAN

HERN (Ballard)

1-800-261-4676

FORD • MERCURY • MARINE

AROUND THE BAY

ONEIDA Relay For Life set for weekend

At least 11 teams will take part in the second annual Oneida Relay For Life on Friday and Saturday at the North Hill Center, 1720 S. Lincoln St., Oneida.

Starting at 8 p.m., at least one member from each team will walk on a track throughout the night. Other activities will include a 5 a.m. breakfast.

An opening ceremony will take place at 5 p.m., two hours after the relay begins.

The event's theme will be "Aisle Lane Relay For Life." Other activities will include a 5 a.m. breakfast and a 5 p.m. breakfast.

Proceeds from the event will go to the American Cancer Society. More than $10,000 was raised during last year's relay.

GREEN BAY Animal stories focus on snakes

Area preschoolers can learn all about snakes during a program taking place from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary, 1400 N. Lincoln St., Green Bay.

The program is designed to help people who are afraid of snakes. "Snakes are some of the most misunderstood animals in the world and will avoid contact with humans as much as possible," Sanctuary Executive Director Robert B. Smith said.

Smith said the program will include a 9 a.m. breakfast and a 1 p.m. lunch. The program is for children ages 5 to 12.

The cost is 50 cents per person, and people standing are invited to register by calling (920) 361-9671.

Animal stories focus on snakes. Area preschoolers can learn all about snakes during a program taking place from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary, 1400 N. Lincoln St., Green Bay.

Special Finances

One-Step Home Loans

Home Equity Loans

Auto Loans

Business Loans

Personal Loans

Call Today

WIN A FREE DOOR COUNTRY VACATION

Drawing held Sat. Aug. 1

Press-Gazette Day this Thursday at the

The Packers EXPERIENCE

Open Thru Aug. 23

9 a.m. - 6 p.m.

ACTIVITIES: Family play-by-play booth, Kick-Off Returns, Rookie Camp, Linebacker Challenge

The Passing Challenge

$2 OFF Admission

Press-Gazette