

B-2 SATURDAY, JULY 22, 2000 GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE

Local/State

BRIEFLY

BELEVEVE Hunters' safety class begins Sept. 5

A state Department of Natural Resources hunters' safety class will be held Thursday and Friday at McAlester Elementary School beginning Sept. 5.

MAISON Drunken-driving charge is man's 9th

A man arrested on his eighth and ninth drunken-driving charges was arrested a ninth time this week after witnesses reported his car crashing at a Madison bar.

OSHKOSH University names new chancellor

The new chancellor for the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh is Richard Wells, currently serving as provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs at Indiana State University.

HORSE PLAY: Rochelle DeCoudt, 15, and Katie Bayl, 16, of Green Bay sit at Boy's horse, Virginia, during the English riding segment of a horse show at the Brown County Fair.

Recall/Verification necessary Steps in a recall election

In Wisconsin, recall elections allow voters to reconsider the choice of an elected official by requiring voters to sign again for the same office. Brown County Executive Nancy Nappi says the recall process is not as simple as it seems.

PCB/Regulators sought joint deal

Disappointed Fish and Wildlife officials and Wisconsin state agencies are seeking a joint deal to settle a long-running dispute over cleanup of the Green Bay Superfund site.

EMERGENCIES

GREEN BAY THURSDAY, JULY 20, 2000 6:34 p.m., fire alarm, 510 S. Monroe Ave., alarm alarm.

RECORDS

ASHWAUBENON THURSDAY, JULY 21, 2000 1:04 a.m., ambulance call, 710 Hampton Road, Roger Wehr to St. Vincent.

Births

A list of babies born in the Green Bay area during the week of July 17-23, 2000.

Body of middle-aged woman found in creek

A police investigation has determined that a body found in a creek near the town of Manitowish was that of a woman who had been missing for several days.

Pulaski Polka Days advertisement for July 20-23, 2000, featuring various polka bands and admission information.

Green Bay Press-Gazette advertisement for a car sale, featuring a 2000 Ford Focus and other vehicles.